The film is the sequel to the 2014 film The Maze Runner and the second installment of the film series The Maze Runner. Directed by Wes Ball, scripted by T.S. Nowlin. Adding to the cast of the original film by Dylan O'Brien, Kaya Scodelario, Thomas Brodie-Sangster, Dexter Darden, Alexander Flores, Ki Hong Lee and Patricia Clarkson, the new supporting cast includes Nathalie Emmanuel, Giancarlo Esposito, Aidan Gillen, Jacob Lopland, Barry Pepper, Rosa Salazar, Lili Taylor and Alan Tudyk. The plot of The Scorch Trials takes place immediately after the previous installment, with Thomas (O'Brien) and his fellow Gladers, who had just escaped from the premises of the powerful World Disaster Killzone Division (WCKD), which had imprisoned them. On the run in the desert and in the ruined cities, they must escape the WCKD soldiers and face the dangers of Scorch, a desert landscape filled with dangerous obstacles. Filming began in Albuquerque, New Mexico on October 27, 2014 and officially ended on January 27, 2015. Maze Runner: The Scorch Trials was released on select international territories from September 9, 2015 in 2D, 3D, 4DX and Barco Escape, and released on September 18, 2015, in the United States in 2D and premium large format theaters from 20th Century Fox. It was originally set to be released on IMAX, but this was cancelled as Everest had all global IMAX screens booked until the release of the film The Walk. The Scorch Trials received mixed reviews: some praised his action sequences and performance, others criticized the film for its lack of plot and character progress. Like its predecessor, the film was a commercial success $30.3 million for its opening weekend, making it the ninth highest-selling debut in September. [5] The film went to number one spot at the box office over the opening weekend, and made $312 million worldwide. The final entry, titled Runner: The Death Cure, released January 26, 2018. Plot A mother falls off her frightened reluctant son, Thomas, with scientist Ava Paige and the troops of the WCKD organization. Thomas and other abandoned children are placed in a walled maze in a clearing as part of his scientific trials. Years later, shortly after they were rescued from the Labyrinth, Thomas and the rest of the Gladers (Teresa, Newt, Minio, Frypan and Winston) are transferred to a facility run by Mr. Janson. He says the facility is a safe haven that protects them from WCKD, the Flare virus, and the Cranks and provides them with supplies. Thomas becomes suspicious and investigates. With the help of Mars, the first maze survivor to reach the facility, Thomas discovers that the WCKD leader, Ava, is still alive and that Mr. Janson works for WCKD when discussing experiments on immune and that Janson has yet to find the Right Hand, a resistance group in the mountains. The team, including Mars, escapes from the deserted outside world, the Scorch. Mr. Janson orders WCKD troops to track them down. [6] The group arrives at an abandoned mall and meets cranks, people zombified by flare virus. Winston's infected by one of them. When it comes in the morning, they find the city in ruins and the WCKD is still looking for them. Winston's infection is getting worse, which forces others to let him kill himself to prevent his transformation. As he crosses the desert, Thomas wakes up to discover a distant civilization. During a storm, Minho is struck by lightning, but survives. They find refuge in an abandoned facility, only to discover it's filled with chained cranks. The group meets Brenda and Jorge, who lead a dangerous group of survivors and have used the Cranks as guard dogs. Brenda and Jorge agree to take them to the Right Hand and leave their group of survivors. Moments later, WCKD, led by Janson, storms the place, only for the facility to be destroyed by Jorge's explosives. Thomas and Brenda are left behind as the rest escape with Jorge. As Thomas and Brenda escape the Cranks, Brenda is infected. Thomas experiences a flashback of him and Teresa working for WCKD in which Thomas tries to warn Teresa of WCKD's plans, only for both to be separated from WCKD's troops. As Thomas and Brenda reunite with the rest of the team, Jorge interrogates Marcus, a survivor who secretly works for WCKD, to reveal the right-arm position. [6] The team eventually arrives at the right arm outpost relief camps, where there are other immune survivors Vince, who leads the Right Arm, greets them. As Brenda's infection worsens, Vince threatens to shoot her, only to be stopped by Mary Cooper, a former WCKD scientist who reveals that Thomas was their informant, who has also helped the Right Hand destroy WCKD's illegal big business ever since. As Mary stops Brenda's infection using an enzyme treatment, Mary explains that the enzyme needs to be harvested from body, not manufactured, and that arguments about the methods of manufacturing treatment with Ava led to Maria's withdrawal from WCKD. That night, Teresa tells WCKD of her position as she believes WCKD's motives are good, which leads to an ambush by WCKD, where Ava and Janson arrive and face the right hand. Janson shoots Mary dead, and WCKD troops arrest survivors for experimentation, including Minho. After Thomas and his right hand repelled the WCKD troops away, Ava, Janson, and Teresa retreated with their captive survivors. With only a fraction of the survivors left in space, Thomas plans to infiltrate WCKD. [6] Cast Dylan O'Brien as Thomas Kaya Scodelario as Teresa Thomas Brodie-Sangster as Newt Dexter Darden as Frypan Nathalie Emmanuel as Harriet Katherine McNamara as Sonya Giancarlo Esposito as Jorge Alexander Flores as Win Aidan Gillen as John Ki Hong Lee as Minho Jacob Lobland as Mars Barry Pepper as Vince Rosa Salazar as Brenda Lili Taylor as Mary Cooper Alan Todyk as Marcus (credited as Blondie) Patricia Clarkson as Ava Paige Production Pre-production On October 13 In 2013, almost a year before the release of The Maze Runner, it was reported that Fox had started working on The Scorch Trials. It was revealed that T.S. Nowlin - who had recently worked on the Fantastic Four reboot - will adapt Maze Runner: The Scorch Trials, taking over from Noah Oppenheim, with returning director Wes Ball overseeing Nowlin's script. The early development of Maze Runner: The Scorch Trials suggested to many that Fox was confident of the potential success of The Maze Runner. [7] [8] On 19 November 2014, John Paesano was confirmed to be back to score the film. [2] Creature designer Ken Barthelmy returned to designing cranks for the film. [9] Casting On September 26, 2014, Aidan Gillen was cast as Janson, also known as Rat-Man. [10] On September 30, 2014, Rosa Salazar signed to the cast as Brenda. [11] Over the next few days, mud star Jacob Lfand[12] and Giancarlo Esposito[13] joined the cast, playing Mars Jones and Jorge, respectively. Nathalie Emmanuel became Harriet, co-leader of Group B, on 22 October 2014.[14] and Katherine McNamara as the other co-leader on 22 December. [15] On November 3, 2014, there were two additions to the cast, with Lili Taylor as Mary Cooper, a doctor helping Thomas and the Gladers,[16] and Barry Pepper as Vince, a survivor/who is one of the last remaining soldiers of a legendary unit called The Right Hand. [17] Filming On July 25, 2014, Ball announced at San Diego Comic-Con International that the studio wanted to start shooting in the fall of 2014, in case its predecessor became a hit when it hit theaters. [18] On 31 August 2014, Ball announced that he was about nine weeks out from filming. He also revealed we're in New Mexico right now. We have crew and studios. We're fast approaching our shoot time. The sets are being constructed. Many of the same crew are returning. Most actors come back, except. From those who were killed [in the first film]. The script really comes together. [19] A week later, Ball told BuzzFeed that we have studios, we have crews coming in, Dylan [O'Brien] will be back in a few weeks, we build sets, and the manuscript is written. It's a bit of a struggle this time because we're cautiously optimistic, but we're excited we're ready to do something that's much more sophisticated, much more grown up, and really create an epic here. [20] The main photo began on October 27, 2014 in and around Albuquerque, New Mexico. [10] [21] Filming ended on 27 January 2015, lasting 94 days. [22] [23] Soundtrack Composed by John Paesano, the soundtrack was released on September 11, 2015. [24] Release On August 31, 2014, Ball revealed that he hopes the film will be out in about a year. [19] On September 21, 2014, it was announced that the film would be released on September 18, 2015 in the United States. [25] The film was released in Barco's multi-layered immersive film Form Barco Escape in all 25 countries with about 20 minutes of film transformed into format. [26] It was also released in dolby vision form at The Dolby Cinema in North America. [27] Marketing The cast and crew of Maze Runner: The Scorch Trials at the 2015 San Diego Comic-Con. At San Diego Comic-Con International 2014, Ball released the first original artwork for the film. [28] Six stills were released on March 11, 2015. [29] [30] The first official trailer was released on April 23, 2015, at CinemaCon on 20th Century Fox. [31] It wasn't released online at the same time, but the 1-minute, 44-second trailer premiered before Pitch Perfect 2 in May 2015. [32] The trailer was released publicly on May 19, 2015. [33] On July 10, 2015, a 30-minute look was screened at San Diego Comic Con International, with Ball, Dashner and O'Brien also on display. Home Media The Scorch Trials was released on Blu-ray and DVD on December 15, 2015. [34] Box office slot Maze Runner: The Scorch Trials made $81.7 million in North America and $230.6 million in other regions for a global total of $312.3 million, against a budget of $61 million. [5] North America In the United States and Canada, the film was released alongside Black Mass and Captive, and was projected to gross $34-36 million at its opening weekend. [47] France scored the highest opening for the film with $8.5 million followed by South Korea ($7.2 million) Russia and the CIS ($5.2 million), the United Kingdom, Ireland and Malta ($4.9 million), and Mexico ($4.4 million). [45] [47] [48] In terms of total profits, its largest market outside the US is France ($25 million), South Korea ($19 million) and the United Kingdom ($13.2 million). [49] Opened in China-its last market-on November 4[45][50] and earned an estimated $19.77 million on 4,945 screens in its opening weekend ($14.6 million in three days) is 60% above its predecessor's opening. [51] [52] It has raised a total of $29.5 million in China making it the largest market for the film, followed by France ($25.3 million) and South Korea ($19 million). [49] Critical response Maze Runner: The Scorch Trials received mixed reviews from critics. When reviewing Rotten Tomatoes website, the film has an approval rating of 46%, based on 147 reviews, with an average rating of 5.41/10. The website's critical consensus states, Maze Runner: The Scorch Trials is an action-packed sequel at the cost of the story, urgency, and mystery that the original offered. [53] Metacritic gives the film a rating of 43 out of 100, based on 29 critics, showing mixed or average reviews. [54] The audience surveyed by CinemaScore gave the film a grade of B+ on an A+ to F scale. [55] The main criticisms of the film were its narrative, particularly its changes from source material, and lack of character development. [56] [57] Forbes said the film suffered from movie waste syndrome, claiming that it offered neither an introduction nor a finale. [58] The wrapper stated that, it does not offer much plot or character development. [59] Stephen Kelly of Total Film said, Scorch Trials ambitiously opens up its world with mixed results: exciting action, so-so scenario. [60] Walter Adiego of the San Francisco Chronicle said, there are a lot of eye candy, and the pace is fast, but somehow the film falls short. [61] Some critics felt it was an improvement over its predecessor, highlighting its action sequences and performances. [62] [63] John Williams of the New York Times wrote, The many chases and ridiculous close escapes offer respectable doses of adrenaline.[64] and Brian Truitt of USA Today said, The action, suspense and twists of the masseuse runner give movie fans of all ages a chance to embrace their inner-o-running teenager. [65] Newsday's Rafer Guzman said, The teen dystopian franchise continues to play rough, and now even rougher, with satisfying results. [66] Bilge Ebili of Vulture said essentially, scorch tests make up for the humdrum revelation of his first half by going the little bankers in his second.
